'CRITICS" TO TEACH IN FINEST SCHOOL OF CITY MONDAY

Opening of Washington Normal, No. 1, Will Mark New Plan of Instruction Here.

fmall girls and boys living in the vichity of Eleventh and Harvard streets northwest, will have opportunity on Monday of going to school in the finest grade school building in the city and under the most expert corps of teachers. On the first day of the new term, aght rooms of the new forty-room normal building will be occupied by eight grades of the "critic school" conducted Washington Normal No. 1, under Miss A. M. Goding, principal.

The normal school proper will not move from its present quarters in the Franklin building until the Easter vacation, but the rooms are ready for the grade school pupils which have been finished ahead of the others.

New Plan In District. housing of this complete critic school really marks an innovation in the District, for although teaching by "critic teachers," who are supposed to be more advanced and expert than other grade school teachers, has been carried on in the past, the system has not been anything like so completely in-stalled as it will be in the building be-ginning next week.

The new Normal No. 1 building has the new Normal No. 1 building has been constructed at a cost of $250,000, and covers an immense plot of ground for the forty rooms are contained in but two stories. Three-story school buildings in Washington as elsewhere are now under a ban because of fire and panic danger.

Look for Big Rush. It is expected in scool circles that there will be a rush of applications enrollment in the new school buildng because of the advantages exist-ng both in building and in tuition. The seighborhood of the new school is fair-

When the normal school is moved out of the Franklin School building, one step will have been taken toward end-ing that building as a teaching center.

Charles H. Doing, jr., president, and W. W. Spaid, chairman of the educational committee of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, have issued a circular descriptive of the course of ten lectures by Prof. Charles A. Douglas before the chapter, the second lecture of which was delivered by Prof. Douglas last night.

Prof. Douglas took occasion in his address to point out the growing confusion in the law which Congressman Paul Howland, of Cleveland, described at the recent annual reunion of the Washington Alumni of Western Reserve University, held at the University Club. He criticised the inaccuracy of law makers, especially those in State legislatures, and referred to contradictory decisions handed down by courts.

The course of lectures by Prof. Douglas is described by Messrs. Doing and Spaid as comparing favorably with those given in universities and colleges. The next lecture will be delivered next Wednesday night at the rooms of the chapter, 1214 F street northwest, and the other on following Wednesday evenings.

A call for the condition of national banks is expected soon to come from the Comptroller of the Currency. The last call came on November 26. In re-cent years a November call has gener-ally been followed by a call late in Janu-ary. About two months intervene be-tween calls at this time of the year.

W. R. RUGGLES PAYS $34,000 FOR THREE PROPERTIES IN CITY

Virginian Probably Will Live in Vermont Avenue Home, Purchased From J. G. Slater.

John G. Slater has consummated thre sales, aggregating $34,000, to W. R. Ruggles, who lives in Virginia, but who expects to remove to Washington soon. Washington real estate.

Mr. Ruggles include the handsome residence at 1531 Vermont avenue, where Mr. Ruggles will probably make his home, three residences at 1100, 1102, and 1104 Ninth street southeast, and two smaller brick residences at 1647 and 1649 Kramer street, in Long Meadowa. The Vermont avenue house contains welve large rooms and has an attractive pressed brick front. The property brought $13,000. One of the three houses in the southeast section is a fourteenroom building, another contains twelve rooms, and the third, six rooms. Fifteen thousand dollars is the figure named for these three properties. The two small brick houses in Kramer street brought $5,000.

To Build Twelve Houses.

Harry Wardman will begin at once the erection of twelve houses, each con-taining six rooms and bath, on Har-vard and Hobart streets. The new buildings will be an extension of what is known as the Sherman avenue opera-tion, where Mr. Wardman has already completed a number of houses of this size.

John E. Wilkie, formerly chief of the John E. Wilkie, formerly chief of the Secret Service, now chief of the divis-ion of special examiners in the Treas-ury Department, has bought two small business houses at 819 and 812 Twelfth street northwest. The consideration is not made public. Mr. Wilkie will make no improvements at present, though he intimated that at some future date he expects to develop the property.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Jan. 30.-Ex-PLAINFIELD, Conn., Jan. 30.—Experts in fruit culture have been closely examining trees in this section and find not only peach trees but pear, apple and plum trees in aimset every instance, budded.

Pussy willows are in bloom. Dandellons, cowslips and early spring greens are nearly large enough to gather. No ice has yet formed and in scores of cases farmers have nearly completed their spring plowing. Hens are becoming broody two months earlier than usual and woodchoppers report maple trees are running sap as freely as in April.
